

Teaching firms how to be lean

Enterprise strategy, said he decided after high school in his native Germany "that different cultures were an interesting field of study, so I became an anthropologist."